

Figure 1. Geology of the southwestern Slave Province showing the location of the Wijjnedi Lake map area at the boundary between an area, to the south, of Archean high-grade metamorphic rocks and granitoid intrusions, in large part at granulite grade, and, to the north, lower metamorphic grade rocks, both of which are part of a major Paleoproterozoic uplift.